MEMPHIS APPEAL

The building and control of such a line from Norfolk to The Pres and Cons Discussed by Dem Bristol, Sparta, Nashville, Memphis, Pine Bluff and Shreveport, passing through the richest known cotton-belt, the valleys of the Mississippi, St. Francis, White, Arkansas, Saline, Washits and Red rivers, and having direct connections through the international railway of Texas, through the heart of ed direct line to Liverpool and Havre, without the detention of time and cost to mass it through New York, saving to the European buyer and manufacture at least one dollar and a half per bale, facility of transportation from Norfolk direct to Europe if the produce is once turned to that point in sufficient quantitles to induce it. The harbor of Norfolk is known to be equal to any on the Atlantic coast. With proper co-operation of the people, roads, cities and vanced declarations. States now so deeply interested in this line, and in cheap and speedy transporabout being brought before the public, and with such men at its head as the "little man" of Virginia, made of fron with nerves of steel, and the moneyed men who are known to be co-operating with him and leading railroad-builders, there cannot be a doubt that the great
